Message From Our Region President

On January 6 we finished our Christmas season with the visit of the Magi—those Wise Men from the East. Have you ever thought about the types of wisdom we see in that familiar passage from Matthew 1?

King Herod's approach to wisdom is simple—get rid of the competition. If this newborn is being called King, he must be done away with.

The wisdom of the Magi was to sort out the evidence. Their understanding of the wisdom of the ages and the stars in the heavens seemed in conflict with what King Herod was telling them. Like a crime scene investigator, they had to take what they heard and knew and come up with a solution.

Our own wisdom might take us another direction. Does it make a difference in how we will be treated? What about how much money we'll have in our pockets as a result? What about our social life and status? Do we handle sticky situations based on our own wisdom or do we use another kind of wisdom?

As I began the year I put to use a gift I receive—a Bible that is organized so that I can easily read through

Missions Conference

The GRR Missions Conference that has been held in January the last few years has been moved to April 25-26. More information will soon be available.

it in a year. Each day I will be face-to-face with truths from the Scriptures. What I do with those truths, how I incorporate them into my daily life, will definitely have a bearing on the wisdom I exercise in making decisions.

How do you make decisions? Do you get rid of competition so you'll come out on top? Do you sort out evidence so you'll make a rational, logical decision in the world's eyes? Do you use your own judgment so it will leave you in the best place? Or do you consult the one asset we have as Christians—the Scriptures. Let 2008 be the year of making decisions with God in the equation, and may it be a genuinely Happy New Year.

For the praise of His glory,
Pastor Diane DeSmidt

Creative Worship Seminar

March 8, 2008

Peoria First Baptist Church

"Many churches have discovered that simply installing the screen and the projectors doesn't automatically transform worship. There is a huge difference between technology and culture. How do you change the culture of worship in a way that it will speak to the world that we live in today?"

The Creative Worship seminar by Len Wilson and Jason Moore will address what our churches can do to transform worship through culture of worship, artful expression of the worship theme, development of the team that plans and supports worship, and use of technologies (from banners to projection).

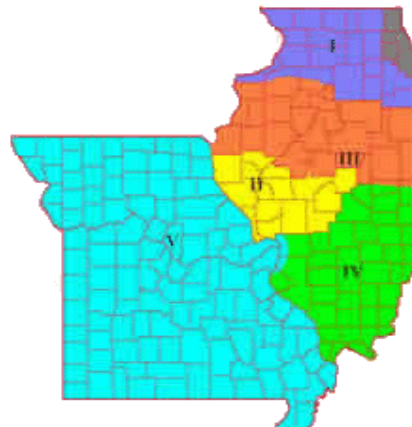

This is NOT a tech seminar, but a time of learning resources and an approach that will help us intentionally plan worship that will reach the changing world around us.

The seminar is being limited to 80 for space considerations. Early registration of several members of your church will save you. Please register no later than January 25 to assure yourself of this discounted rate.

Find registration form at:

First Baptist Church of Galesburg, IL will be celebrating their 160th Anniversary January 13-16th, 2008.

The anniversary date is January 15th. An "old fashioned" church service will be offered on the 13th at 10:00 a.m. A winter tri-annual meeting will follow during which we will recognize the members of 50 years and greater. There will also be a memorial time to honor those the Lord has taken home in the past year.

On January 15th, a 24 hour prayer vigil will be held. Then on the 16th there will be a family night with a Potluck and a time of singing. It will be a special time for us to reflect on our heritage and the future the Lord has for Galesburg-FBC.
